

8.31.2004: Notice & Aftermath

Lately everything seems to be fine, with both Coranto up thanks to Sylic as well as the forums.

The search engine has yet to be repaired but that is of low priority as of this moment and will be fixed as soon as I remember and have the time. We will also attempt to install some other features which have not yet been decided, but stay tuned. The forum is ever so slightly different now as it's been upgraded to version 2 of PHP BB. For a list of changes you can visit the PHPBB.com site and view the changelog file, when in doubt.

8.29.2004 cR cz server

Due to the fact we want to dedicate more attention to the CS server, the CZ server will be down after 9/16, also, we are increasing the slots to 20 in the CS server.

In other cR news, lonewolf and borednlit were promoted to leaders. 11ty was promoted to senior member.

8.17.2004: NFO Expansion

Nuclearfallout enterprises has been expanding rapidly within the last month. Following their goal to be the best game server provider in the gaming world, they now offer servers in Los Angeles, Seattle, Chicago, New York, and Atlanta. Although a bit pricy, servers are always in working order with superior bandwidth and speed.

If you have any questions, please contact To'mas or Solid Snake or alternatively you can visit their forums linked directly off their main website at nuclearfallout.net.

Note: This gaming community's experience with NFO has generally been one of a positive experience. Support staff is always available, though it must be noted that answers may sometimes not be to your liking.

8.15.2004: Downtime

For most of us the forums were down for a period of half a week or so. Apologies for the downtime, hopefully it will not happen again. If you have questions please let myself or someone else know.

One of our members, Omnious, has recently started a clan with a sponsored public server! Very impressive. Congratulations and good luck with the clan.

8.4.2004 Happy Birthday Pathfinder!

Happy birthday to Binx, who turns the notorious 21 years old today, Seattle Time! For those of you who do not know who Binx is, well perhaps one day you will have the chance to converse with his humorous forum posts.

Again happy birthday and good luck with any future endeavors!

7.26.2004: News Pro Up and Working

If you can see this message now, please thank Sylic from clan redemption for his work on the installation of news pro on our site. In this way, more people will be able to post news to their liking as they see fit. Once again thank you, we hope that this will make the site more user friendly and easier for the admins as a whole.

7.14.2004: Changes & Announcements

Things have been slow lately but we do thank everyone in the community for sticking through with us through thick and thin, during the active and inactive periods of time. As for server traffic, West Nest has been receiving around a maximum of 11 players on a daily basis, so thanks to everyone who is idling even when no one is there, it is appreciated.

Concerning the topic of spam on our forums, we are not nearly as strict as some of our friends, when it comes to staying on topic, which is of course one of the reasons why we made the useless spam and chat box. However if you have something completely useless to say that serves no other purpose than to otherwise increase your post count, please make sure that you restrict your nonsense to the spam box, otherwise your post may be deleted with or without notice. The reasoning here is, sometimes new users try to navigate around the forums and when they come across a topic that appears to be legit, often times the most recent posts have nothing to do with the original topic.

We in no way want to restrict you if you have something to say, so long as it is within standards, so if you have questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Lastly, admin privileges. Since we don't have the same sort of dedication a normal clan does, we recruit admins in a different manner, although we do of course look for the same characteristics as many of our allies. Please note that patience is something we rely heavily on. Most clans recruit admins instantly without much thought (which isn't necessarily a bad thing) but this is not the system we use. If you're in a rush to get admin, then know this...this isn't the place for you.

If you have any specific questions please contact Lonewolf, Shaolin, or Robotics (in that order) due to the difference in activity levels of each individual. Also, if you get banned on an affiliate server do not ask them why you got banned on our forums, take it to private messages or AIM. Likewise, if you get banned by us, post it in our forums, not elsewhere, admins here will not go the extra mile to research a case when the offender is not willing to approach us directly.

6.26.2004: Changes & Announcements

Congratulations is in order to Confire who won the regular member of the month, it was a very close race and everyone deserves a pat on the back. As has been stated numerous times, the voting does not reflect staff or admin opinion and should be taken with a grain of salt. However everyone please feel free to say congrats to Chris when you do get the chance. Future members of the month or staff members of the month will be conducted as Pathfinder and Confire see fit.

There will be a couple of changes taking place as one of our staff members leaves for about 1 and a half months. Increased responsibility has been given to the community, and we hope that any active reg will try and populate the server and keep it free from any mischief, hacking, or general bad attitudes. It has been said time and time again, if you aren't willing to give any respect to anyone, then you don't belong here. This has always been enforced, and we hope that it always will be enforced in the future.

Most clans who are affiliated with us can be reached fairly easily via Private Messaging. Almost all leadership within these affiliated clans have been entrusted with admin; if you suspect foul play or would like to request a ban, please do so in our ban request forum. If it is an ultra sensitive issue, then use your own judgement and PM an admin.

Admin will still be granted with the exact same conditions it has always been in the past. Lonewolf from clan Redemption and Shaolin-Warrior from Zero Tolerance are the two people you should be contacting if you have any questions about admin. Shaolin may not be reached on a daily basis, however Lonewolf has graciously offered to help and be there as often as time permits.

Our other two positions filled by Ding Chavez (now an admin, congrats!) and Desolator serve as points of advertising. Please feel free to support them in any way possible. Pathfinder has also offered to keep an extra eye on the community. Please keep West Nest free of negativity and have a great summer vacation.

6.12: remIx Forums Up, Please "Migrate" Over!

Sydecutz has requested all remIx members to head on over to your new forums at www.returnofremix.net - you will find the forums link directly under the main menu.

Please sign up for your forums and have a great time. The remIx forum in KA will remain up until all remIx members have checked in, so no one is stranded or lost. It was great having remIx members over for the time being and good luck to you all.

6.7: Summer Is Coming...and with It Good News

Summer is finally here! I have uploaded a Krazed Alloys skin in our zip folder, at KA _Skin.zip - it is called KA _Skin.zip, and made by Sylic from clan Redemption. Please feel free to download it at your leisure, and feel free to post your input. Screenshot can be seen here.

Thanks to our friends our community site has been posted on the cR/ZT website. I have added to our website as well. A little bit about Clan Redemption, for those of you who are not very familiar with them.

We have a few server admins from their clan who have privs on our server and forums, they deserve the same respect that you would give any other guest, member, or admin of this community.

The leaders of this clan are Sylic, Merlock, and Shadow with senior members Lonewolf and Borednlit. Our rules are very similar, if you run into trouble there, you most likely won't be welcomed here either. Clan Redemption is an East-Based Counter-Strike clan with a shared server with clan ZT, their close affiliate. Like their brother clan cR does not tolerate childish attitudes, poor sports, disrespect, or cheats in any way or form. Please also note, advertising is strictly forbidden in their homes. You can visit their site at <http://clan-r.net/> or their server at 63.218.48.142 or custom server 69.64.38.209

Zero Tolerance clan is led by Misfit and is also East based. They are strictly an adult based clan, and enforce rules at all times. You can visit their website at www.clan-zt.com. Please show your support for both of these communities as they have done so for ours, by always following their rules and by treating them with the same courtesy you wish to receive.
