

2.15.2005: Update On Source

As a follow up to the most recent news, we'd like to briefly mention an update to the pending switch to Source. We will not be getting our Source server until the end of March, sometime around the 26th-31st. For those of you anxiously waiting for the new source server, we apologize for the inconvenience. Be assured that the server will be ordered by April, no more delays. The CS 1.6 server will be shutting down effective March 10th when the server payment runs out. Between the 10th and the 26th, we will therefore be serverless for this two-week period. Nothing about the dates are set in stone, they are approximations, but they are there to make you aware of our projected dates and plans as of this moment. For those of you who will continue to play CS 1.6 you are always welcome to stick around the forums and post, and server wise we would like to encourage you to visit our affiliates who will still be sticking with CS 1.6 --- West Coast players will be interested in EPS4's community, IP of eps4.nuclearfallout.net:27015, and East coasters can find some familiar regulars at zt.nuclearfallout.net:27015. Both operate on very similar rules, so please respect their homes as well as you are subject to the same standards all admins and guests are accountable for. Unfortunately with the move, we may be losing some of our current admins in the process. We are always looking for new potentials who have the same attitudes and mindset that we do. If you feel like you fit the criteria please fill out a form today.

Staff would also like to welcome 4rch 4ng3l to his new post on our management team, he will be administrating both the new server and the forums. Welcome aboard Jason, we are very happy to have you as a part of our team.

01.25.2005: Switching to CS: Source

The time has come to make the change from 1.6 to Source so get ready for some new online gameplay! We'll be switching to CS: Source as early as March 10th. If you don't have source by March 10th the ZT community is sticking with 1.6 and you will see many familiar faces and similar rules. Also Seattle based ally EPS4 is welcome to you. If anyone is interested in taking over payments for 1.6 please talk to Lawrence and he'll give you the necessary information and even set you up with 1.6 forums of your own.

Happy Fragging =)

12.30.2004: Changes in Krazed Alloys

As of this writing, I will no longer manage Krazed Alloys for an undetermined period of time of a minimum of 2 months. I will retain some level of power in that I will be enforcing rules when possible and helping the next management team get into place, but I'm glad to announce that Endless (Jake) will be taking over management of the community. Same rules will apply, Endless is familiar with them, so please do not create added drama or feel like you will be granted some leniency by the new administration, that is not the case.

Also, please do not send any private messages to myself relating to ban and unban requests, affiliations, or promotions. In this regard, all private messages directed to myself from moderators and users have been disabled and will not be read by myself. Other administrators are free to PM if it is of extreme importance. If you have a concern of urgency email my personal email account, robotics@krazedalloys.com

All those seeking admin on the server will still undergo the exact same process and affiliated leaders have a pretty good idea of who they see fit as a server admin. Any attempt to sidestep or otherwise badger a server admin will disqualify you for admin. If you were banned on the server (and then unbanned), you are automatically ineligible for admin so please do not apply. Furthermore, please do not ask what the status of your admin procedure is, server admins are well aware of who has applied as they will be informed by endLess/Jake if you pass the initial screening.

In order to streamline the process, at least one approval from an affiliated leader is needed to pass a vote for a person's admin. Any blocks on the candidate result in denial of that application, no questions asked. However the application is on hold and not discarded because of the blocking vote.

Those seeking super admin status on the server or a position on the Team Management community (management of server admins, immunity, rcon access, and assisting in general community relations) headed by endLess must currently be a server admin and contribute actively to help cover site and server costs. If you do not meet these requirements you are not eligible.

If you can contribute it would help a long way, you can send payments to roboticgamer@yahoo.com. As for how long the server will be up and running in my absence, I will still attempt to make active payments on the server but will no longer be playing on it effective January. Come June we will reassess the financial status of the community and see how much we have received, and make a determination from there as to whether or not the server will be taken down in June.

I will be dropping by the forums every now and then and checking my personal email, robotics@krazedalloys.com, should anyone have questions not relating to the community or just touching base in general (as I use the email for other non community related emails as well). All community related issues should be directed to webmaster@krazedalloys.com and will be read primarily by Endless but from time to time myself as well.

If you have problems with Endless for one reason or another, be mature and discuss them in a manner that does not contradict community rules. Affiliated leaders will have ultimate control over whether or not your complaint is valid.

In conclusion it has been a good year and a half and I look forward to the future of the community.

12.25.2004: Merry Christmas

Just wishing everyone here a Merry Christmas and happy holiday season! It's Christmas day and the server is really busy and I wanted to thank everyone for helping us keep it clean. We're very thrilled about the traffic but cannot abandon our rules so unfortunately lately a lot of bans have had to be made. It comes with a great pleasure to say that our server has had phenomenal traffic with an average of 9 players on at any given time (up from a 0 player average 6 months ago)! Thank you all for helping us achieve this goal.

12.8.2004: News Archives Updated

Shaolin from Zero Tolerance clan has converted our old news archives into pdfs. You can see them by clicking them on the right links of this page. Nothing too fancy, but it keeps the site clean and simple. Thank you Shaolin!
